Te Whatu Ora

The Health System in Aotearoa is entering a period of transformation as we implement the Pae Ora/Healthy Futures vision of a reformed system where people live longer in good health, have improved quality of life, and there is equity between all groups.

We want to build a healthcare system that works collectively and cohesively around a shared set of values and a culture that enables everyone to bring their best to work and feel proud when they go home to their whānau, friends and community. The reforms are expected to achieve five system shifts. These are:

1. The health system will reinforce Te Tiriti principles and obligations
2. All people will be able to access a comprehensive range of support in their local communities to help them stay well
3. Everyone will have equal access to high quality emergency and specialist care when they need it
4. Digital services will provide more people the care they need in their homes and communities
5. Health and care workers will be valued and well-trained for the future health system

Context

Capital, Coast & Hutt Valley district provides hospital and health services in primary, secondary and tertiary healthcare to a total population base of approximately 445,000 citizens.

We are accountable for meeting the needs of and improving health outcomes for all the constituent populations of our district, and the region more broadly. Together we:

- provide secondary and tertiary, medical and surgical hospital services alongside community based health care
- fund local health providers and work collaboratively with the community to create and support multiple health education initiatives and projects within the region
- deliver health services directly as well as contracting external providers
- provide local, sub-regional, regional and national health services as well as community-based health, rehabilitation and support services.

The majority of the district's population live in Wellington and Lower Hutt. The Māori and Pacific populations of Lower Hutt and Wellington are proportionally similar, with the largest Pacific population in the region in Porirua. Kapiti and Upper Hutt have similar numbers of Māori and Pacific people. Most people are enrolled with a GP near their place of residence, so the increasing focus on community-based healthcare is expected to lead to better health outcomes for these population groups. Hutt Hospital provides secondary and some tertiary, medical and surgical hospital services alongside community based health care from its main facility in Lower Hutt City. In addition to funding local health providers and working collaboratively with the community to create and support multiple health education initiatives and projects, Hutt Hospital is the centre for five tertiary regional and sub-regional services - Plastics, Maxillofacial and Burns Services; Rheumatology; Dental Services; Regional Public Health; and Regional (Breast and Cervical) Screening Services.

Wellington Regional Hospital in Newtown is the region's main tertiary hospital with services such as complex specialist and acute procedures, intensive care, cardiac surgery, cancer care, neurosurgery and renal care. The hospital is the key tertiary referral centre for the lower half of the North Island and the upper half of the South Island.

Kenepuru Community Hospital and Kapiti Health Centre provide secondary and community services based in Porirua and the Kapiti Coast

MHAIDS is the mental health, addictions and intellectual disability service for the Wairarapa District and Capital, Coast & Hutt Valley District, with multiple specialist facilities. Ratonga Rua-o- Porirua is our forensic, rehabilitation and intellectual disability inpatient unit.

Te Tiriti o Waitangi and Māori Health Outcomes

Māori are the indigenous peoples of Aotearoa. We have particular responsibilities and accountabilities through this founding document of Aotearoa. We value Te Tiriti and have adopted the following four goals, developed by the Ministry of Health, each expressed in terms of mana and the principles of:

- | | |
|------------------------|--|
| Mana whakahaere | Effective and appropriate stewardship or kaitiakitanga over the health and disability system. This goes beyond the management of assets or resources. |
| Mana motuhake | Enabling the right for Māori to be Māori (Māori self-determination); to exercise their authority over their lives, and to live on Māori terms and according to Māori philosophies, values and practices including tikanga Māori. |
| Mana tāngata | Achieving equity in health and disability outcomes for Māori across the life course and contributing to Māori wellness. |
| Mana Māori | Enabling Ritenga Māori (Māori customary rituals) which are framed by Te Aō Māori (the Māori world), enacted through tikanga Māori (Māori philosophy & customary practices) and encapsulated within mātauranga Māori (Māori knowledge). |

We will target, plan and drive our health services to create equity of health care for Māori to attain good health and well-being, while developing partnerships with the wider social sector to support whole of system change.

Hutt Hospital is the centre for five tertiary regional and sub-regional services - Plastics, Maxillofacial and Burns Services Rheumatology Dental Services Regional Public Health and Regional (Breast and Cervical) Screening Services.

The Emergency Department (ED) is a Level 4 emergency care facility, managing approximately 80,000 patient presentations each year.

Our services include a 10-bed Minor Injuries Unit and “The Tree Hutt,” a specialised distraction therapy area designed to provide a calming and child-friendly space for paediatric patients while they wait for care.

The ED serves a diverse population, with a high proportion of Maori and Pasifika patients, alongside a growing elderly population with complex, long-term health needs. Socioeconomic disparities contribute to increased ED presentations, often involving acute conditions that could have been managed earlier in primary care. Hutt Valley ED sees a greater number of cases linked to chronic conditions, social determinants of health, and barriers to primary care access.

Common presentations include:

- Trauma: Accidents and falls are particularly common, given the variety of activities people in the area may engage in, from work-related injuries to road traffic accidents.
- Medical Conditions: These are often acute in nature and can cover anything from heart attacks and strokes to severe infections or complications from chronic conditions (e.g., diabetes, asthma).
- Mental Health Issues: Mental health crises, such as anxiety, depression, and suicidal tendencies, have been growing concerns for many EDs, including at Hutt, where they often require immediate intervention to ensure patient safety.
- Paediatric Cases: The ED also sees many younger patients, especially with illnesses like viral respiratory infections, dehydration, or injuries from play or accidents.

Leadership is provided by the Nurse Manager and Clinical Head of Emergency Medicine, who work in partnership to oversee the department's daily operations and strategic direction of the ED.

The team consists of medical professionals, registered nurses, healthcare assistants, administrative personnel and volunteers (Friends of the emergency department, FEDs)

Hutt Hospital's Emergency Department (ED) teams must remain highly adaptable to the wide range of patient presentations and the diverse demographics they encounter. Given the high proportion of Maori, Pasifika, and elderly patients with complex health needs, the team must be responsive to cultural, social, and medical factors that influence care.

In addition the team are required to stay updated on the latest care techniques and be ready to handle the complexities of their diverse population. This adaptability ensures that Hutt ED delivers effective and compassionate care for all who seek help.

The department is accredited by the Australasian College of Emergency Medicine (ACEM) to provide the maximum two years of advanced training in Emergency Medicine, reflecting its high standards in clinical care and education.
